Annual Report

“This past year was challenging on many fronts. The COVID-19 pandemic affected many aspects of how our members and their community partners in Indiana and Michigan conduct business,” Cindy Konich, President and CEO of FHLBank Indianapolis, and Anthony Lentych, Chair of the AHAC, say in their joint letter in the report. “We have been amazed to see stakeholders roll up their sleeves to continue to do the difficult and necessary work to bring affordable housing and economic development to their communities. We are grateful for your committed partnership during last year’s uncertainty.”

To celebrate the 30th anniversary of FHLBank Indianapolis’ Affordable Housing Program, we’ve developed a supporting webpage with highlights from previous AHAC Annual Reports. Click here to view the AHAC Annual Report page.

What is AHAC?

AHAC has up to 12 members and meets quarterly to advise representatives of the FHLBank Indianapolis Board of Directors on ways the bank can more effectively carry out its housing finance and community investment mission. AHAC provides insights and recommendations regarding the low- and moderate-income housing and community investment programs and needs in the bank’s district and the use of Affordable Housing Program (AHP) subsidies, Community Investment Program advances, and other credit products for these purposes.
