Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis Declares Second Quarter 2023 Dividends, Reports Earnings

INDIANAPOLIS — Today the Board of Directors of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis (“FHLBank Indianapolis” or “Bank”) declared its second quarter 2023 dividends on Class B-2 activity-based capital stock and Class B-1 non-activity-based stock at annualized rates of 7.50% and 2.50%, respectively. The higher dividend rate on activity-based stock reflects the Board’s discretion under the Bank’s capital plan to reward members that use FHLBank Indianapolis in support of their liquidity needs.

“We are pleased to continue our strong financial performance into 2023, which has enabled the Board to continue to declare higher dividends and the Bank to allocate higher required and voluntary amounts to its affordable housing and community investment initiatives, which continue to total at least 12.5% of earnings,” President and CEO Cindy Konich said.

The dividends will be paid in cash on July 28, 2023.

Earnings Highlights

Net income for the second quarter of 2023 was $91 million, an increase of $59 million compared to the corresponding quarter in the prior year. The increase was primarily due to higher earnings on the portion of the Bank’s assets funded by its capital¹, driven substantially by the increase in market interest rates, and an increase in the average balances outstanding of interest-earning assets, substantially advances.

Net income for the six months ended June 30, 2023, was $183 million, an increase of $122 million compared to the corresponding period in the prior year. The increase was primarily due to higher earnings on the portion of the Bank’s assets funded by its capital¹, driven substantially by the increase in market interest rates, an increase in the average balances outstanding of interest-earning assets, substantially advances, and net gains on the extinguishments of certain consolidated obligations.

¹ FHLBank Indianapolis earns interest income on advances to and mortgage loans purchased from its Michigan and Indiana member financial institutions, as well as on long- and short-term investments. Net interest income is primarily determined by the size of the Bank's balance sheet and the spread between the interest earned on its assets and the interest cost of funding with consolidated obligations. Because of the Bank's inherent relatively low interest-rate spread, it has historically derived a substantial portion of its net interest income from deploying its interest-free capital in floating-rate assets.

Affordable Housing Program Allocation

The Bank's Affordable Housing Program (“AHP”) provides grant funding to support housing for low- and moderate-income families in communities served by its Michigan and Indiana members. Full-year 2023 AHP allocations will be available to the Bank’s members in 2024 to help address their communities’ affordable housing needs, including construction, rehabilitation, accessibility improvements and homebuyer down-payment assistance.

For the six months ended June 30, 2023, AHP assessments² totaled $21 million. In addition, the Bank voluntarily allocated $6 million, reported in other expenses, to further support its AHP and additional affordable housing, small business and community investment programs.

As a result, the Bank’s combined required and voluntary allocation in the first six months of 2023 totaled $27 million, an increase of $18 million, or 212%, compared to the corresponding period in the prior year, which demonstrates the Bank’s commitment to promoting affordable, sustainable and equitable housing in Michigan and Indiana.

(a) Includes hedging gains (losses) and net interest settlements on fair-value hedge relationships. The Bank uses derivatives, specifically interest-rate swaps, to hedge the risk of changes in the fair value of certain of its advances, available-for-sale securities and consolidated obligations. These derivatives are designated as fair-value hedges and, therefore, changes in the estimated fair value of the derivative, and changes in the fair value of the hedged item that are attributable to the hedged risk, are recorded in net interest income.

(b) Includes impact of purchase discount (premium) recorded through mark-to-market gains (losses) on trading securities and net interest settlements on derivatives hedging trading securities, while generally offsetting interest income on trading securities is included in interest income.

² Each year, Federal Home Loan Banks are required to allocate to the AHP 10% of earnings, defined for this purpose as income before assessments plus interest expense on mandatorily redeemable capital stock.
